

Night Train

© René Heesakkers

I'm on the night train, so the healing begins
Passing the border, counting time
I'll be back soon, you'll be waiting
I'm on the night train, so the healing begins
The healing begin

I'm on the night train, so the healing begins
Passing the border, counting time
I'll be back soon, you'll be waiting
Waiting for the call
I'm on the night train, so the healing begins
The healing begins

The years have passed by
Can't recall, we were side by side
I look in the mirror, and it don't lie
I hope you're going to see
The man I want to be
And let our stories match again, again

I'm on the night train, so the healing begins
Reading the magazin, fort he twentieth time
Turning pages, I've already seen
Counting cattle in the landscape
Seeing funny people, just smile
My healing begins, my healing begins, my healing begins