

Remembrance

tekst Johanna van Lankveld

Through the cloudy mist, of tears in my eyes
I saw the fate, that was to be mine
Knowing how it felt, but not why it's there
I laid down my head and began to cry

Somehow I knew, it wouldn't last long
But in my heart it felt like forever
To lead a life with no one to share it
I judged it unfair and always to be wrong

Ooh, I remember her now
Ooh, and I'm missing her now

To lose a loved one who meant very much
To know she's gone and never to return
I loved and cared for her with all my heart
And in turn she left me in a state as such

Believing it was me all alone in the world
Never once thinking of asking for a friend
To help me through this pitiful feeling
This feeling of loneliness, so empty and cold

Ooh, I remember her now
Ooh, and I'm missing her now
