So fine I wonder why it's time to say goodbye
I hope to see you around sometime, so please don't make me cry
The good old times, we wandered by, and played there side by side
Every move we made out there is a memory in my mind...and it goes

These old west-cost's songs on the radio late at night
Trying to copy them, with a smile and we just might Always searching for the groove, we never seem to find
Until that glorious day, it came rolling there in sight...and it went

The old house it looked so nice, it never seemed to end
Spending my spare time down there, just me and my friends
The old house, it came tumbling down, and no-one seem to care
The end of a fairytale , the end of a dream we shared

SOLO.

So fine I wonder why it's time to say goodbye
I hope to see you around sometime, so please don't make me cry
The good old times, we wandered by, and played there side on side
Every move we made out there is a memory in my mind...and it goes
